“On 9/11/2001, and the long days that followed, many men and women of DOC took that oath [of office to keep our city safe] to new heights and gave it new meaning. They lived the oath on the job, and on their own time, selflessly alongside fellow city, state and federal responders – serving, assisting, and supporting search and recovery efforts in every imaginable way.”
ESU/K-9 CO Frankie Serrano, w/DOC 21 years, told 9/9/2011 recruit grads of being called up 9/11 with his National Guard unit as the first military forces deployed to secure Ground Zero.
Personnel Division civilian staffer Sharon Joseph, with DOC 27 years, told the recruit graduation audience about her nephew, Rodney Gillis, 32 years old, an NYPD ESU Sergeant who died on 9/11 responding to the WTC attack.
The 9/9/2011 recruit graduation’s 9-11 Commemoration concluded with the presentation of a special 9-11 remembrance flag to each of DOC’s commands. The flag design (left) was shown to the audience.
“On Sept. 11, within moments of the attack on the World Trade Center, [DOC] implemented its emergency response plan, mobilizing hundreds of uniformed and civilian employees to assist in the City's rescue and recovery efforts.”
“Emergency Service Unit personnel trained in confined space-rescue were dispatched to Ground Zero to search for survivors, as were K-9 Unit personnel.”
“Three Harbor Unit launches helped evacuate people to Staten Island, Brooklyn and New Jersey. Much-needed equipment from Rikers Island was delivered to rescue workers.

Telcom specialists helped establish phone & other services at command centers. COs were also assigned to the evidence recovery operation at the Freshkills landfill on Staten Island.”
DOC personnel were the primary support at Bellevue Hospital temporary morgue. More than 60 staff, from the Dept's Criminal Justice, Telcom, Storehouse and Support Service units, as well as leaders from COBA & CCA, aided the ME's Office. DOC operations at Ground Zero, Freshkills and the Morgue continued to Feb. this year. The Dept. is grateful to acknowledge in this Medal Day journal DOC men and women who answered the call.
Richard Massie, social services DOC staffer at EMTC on Rikers, is showing at BWAC gallery this month 40+ photographs of the WTC under construction and from its observation deck after completion.
Massie used special lenses on medium format cameras. A memorial service was held 9/11 at the free gallery, 499 Van Brunt St., Red Hook, open Saturdays & Sundays 1 to 6 p.m. For more, visit www.rmassiephotography.com
August 2001 Photo of World Trade Center by C.O. Ralph E. Smith from his web site Guardian Chronicles. Also from there his image of DOC SSD truck w/flag at Ground Zero site post-9/11.
The 9/11 Responders Remembered Park Wall unveiled on Saturday, Sept. 10, at 10:30 a.m. Retired NYC DOC captain, Dr. Errol Toulon Jr., serves as park president. It honors responders who died post-9/11 from 9/11-related ills.
9/11 Responders Remembered Park is situated in Nesconset at Gibbs Pond Rd. & Smithtown Blvd. Typical of those whose names are cut into wall is the background for NYS DOCS Officer Gregory Quibble of L.I., stricken with terminal leukemia and pulmonary fibrosis after logging in more than 240 hours at Ground Zero 9/12 and 11/22 in 2001.
Ret. DOC CO Robert J. Schor died Aug. 1, 2005, after a long battle with pancreatic cancer that his family and doctor tie to his post-9/11 work at a makeshift WTC morgue. At the end of his first day handling body parts, the 300-pound former bodybuilder climbed into the shower fully dressed and cried for two hours.

He is on many lists of 9/11 Responder Heroes.

Images, from Emerald Bulldogs web site page honoring “Our Friend Bob Schor,” show Schor as member of Emerald Bulldog “gang,” including 4-legged “Suzie.”
DOC Officer Joseph Garofalo, 9/11 First Responders Foundation founder-president (aka Joey Angel on Facebook where this image is on his “wall”), helped arrange a 9/11 dedication service 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. at Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary Catholic Church, 91st St. & Rockaway Blvd., Ozone Park.
Ret. Captain Phil Rizzo spent 12 of his 24 DOC years training ESU members, responded with them to WTC on 9/11 and worked 700+ hours at the site. He is a director of the Feal Good Foundation: No responders left behind, sponsor of an all-day 9/11 free-style martial arts fund-raiser event at South Shore Sports Complex, 3505 Hampton Rd, Oceanside.
These images & the next of post 9/11 sites appear on retired DOC ESU Officer Felix Aponte’s Facebook wall.

Eddie Velinskie, a 2003 DOC retiree after 20 years service, devotes an album of images on his Facebook wall to artist Joe Indart creating a 9-11 mural at E27th & Ave. U, Brooklyn.
Former Bureau Chief Peter Curcio's Facebook wall features photo of him (far left) & DOC Columbia Association colleagues gathering at Columbus Circle the first Columbus Day after 9/11 instead of holding traditional parade. Curico was among those who had key roles to play in DOC's 9/11 response.
Felix Aponte: Boy, did that place reek! I don't know which place was worst the Dump or the Pit!

Larry Adler: I hear ya . . . . I remember the ground bubbling there . . . .

Joyce Krebs: I remember those first few nights, right after 9/11, going down there. How hot the air was, from the fire in the Pit, and how many times the Army Corps of Engineers had to get us outta there, because of fear of a collapse.

Mari Gonzalez: I will never forget the smell!

Nadene Dunnivant-Forbes: Yes, the smell of a dead person is so indescribable . . . . Finding boots with a foot in them . . . . Body parts . . . No one but a chosen few would ever know the job we did . . . .

William Santiago: In DOC's CARE program, we responded to more than 60 MOS who were affected by 9-11 in some way. We had staff members who lost love ones or friends. We debriefed Battery Place and Hudson Street staff who had witnessed the WTC attack. We were busy but what I recall was the togetherness of everyone helping each other. I'm so proud of our staff for what they did under extraordinary pressures and proud of the entire Department for reaching out and supporting each other, from the commissioner to the civilian staff person. God bless everyone.
James Hopper, left, 52, of Farmingdale, a retired NYC DOC CO, had survived the 1993 WTC bombing. He and his brother-in-law, retired NYPD officer Richard N. Poulos, 55, of Levittown, were security guards at Cantor Fitzgerald and died in the 9/11/2001 attack.

Felicia Hamilton, right, 62, mother of retired NYC DOC Transportation Division Deputy Warden Walter Hamilton, worked for Fiduciary Trust International at WTC, as did her daughter's husband, Anthony Ventura. She and her son-in-law both died there on 9-11.
March 1982 DOC newsletter carried two stories in which then Capt. Paul Cascio figured: his is being part of newly-formed Inspection Div. & birth of his son Evan on 9/8/81. On 9/11/2001, ret. DW Paul Cascio lost his other son, Paul at the WTC.

U. of Vermont graduate Paul Cascio Jr., 23, worked for Euro Brothers, on 86th floor of S. Tower. His brother Evan each 9/11 dons Paul's Giants jersey to watch team they used to watch together so often in pre-9/11 era.
Capt. Walter G. Hynes, 46, w/FDNY 22 years, was also an attorney & co-owner of a Rockaway Beach restaurant.

Responding to a www.CorrectionHistory.Org question, former DOC Commissioner William J. Fraser (right) replied:

My cousin, FDNY Captain Walter Hynes of Ladder 13, died in the South Tower. He left a wife and three young daughters. 9/11 is extra special to me because of that close loss, but also because of all the outstanding work DOC performed that day and for the months that followed despite little public recognition. But, I knew and appreciated all they did, as did Mayor Giuliani and you can share that if you so wish. Thank you.
DOC CO Robert Spanarelli’s wall on Facebook features this NYCD-specific 9-11 10th anniversary reminder.
